Jokers, Who Are Well Known Cottagers, Visit Mrs Sloane and Mrs. Foster.

Lexox. Mass. Sept. 17 - A surprise earty on William B. O. Field at Highlawn House last night by half a dozen prominent women of the cottages disguised as a "little German Band" was the talk of the resort to-day. Mr. Field had a birthday yesterday. With him at his country place was his mother, Mrs.
William H. Field, and his sister, Miss Mary P. Field. Mr. and Mrs. Field gave a dimer party, inviting a dozen guesta The dinner was well under way when sere arrived at Highlawn House the there arrived at Highlawn House the bard," which was admitted by prearrangement and marched to the dining from playing the most discordant German airs probably ever perpetrated. The women work of the regular German land women wore the regular German band uniform and on each cap was a motto representing some well known German phrase like "Gott Strate the Allies." This was a loke, because Mr. Field is supposed to sympathize with the Teutons.

The women who composed the motley "hand" wore blond wigs and mustaches and their identity was not revealed. The entrance of the band broke up the dinner party. To all questioning the band leader replied in excellent German that the band had been sent by the Kaiser to aresent his compliments to Mr. Field.

present his compliments to Mr. Field.
After more "music" furnished by a bass
frum, cymbals and horns, the waving
of a German flag and having drunk Mr.
Field's health and been photographed by a flashlight exposure, the "band" de-Later in the evening the same group

Later in the evening the same group appeared at Mrs. William D. Sloane's after dinner bridge party and performed, and from Elm Court went to the Bellefontaine and serenaded Mr. and Mrs. Giraud Foster. In spite of efforts to keep the identity of the band unknown, it leaked out to-day that in the band were Mrs. Carlos M. de Heredia, Mrs. William E. S. Griswold, Miss Gertrude Parsons and Miss Helois Meyer.
